MATERA: more challenging than Venice?

Matera, which has already been the centre of the European final of PWT 2002, where Damien Renard and Hanne Staff took the victories, is a world UNESCO heritage site. The city is getting ready to welcome so many runners with a big open party, with the band, the music, typical dances and tastings of local food and drinks.

Here is the link for the results of the historical PWT Matera race in 2002:
